Description

The 30th European Young Geotechnical Engineers Conference (EYGEC 2027) will be held in Sofia, Bulgaria, bringing together promising young geotechnical engineers from across Europe to present their research, exchange professional experience, and build international connections.

Hosted by the Bulgarian Society of Soil Mechanics and Geotechnical Engineering, the conference will provide a platform for young professionals to discuss recent developments, innovative approaches, and current challenges in soil mechanics and geotechnical engineering.

The scientific programme will include a plenary lecture, invited lectures by internationally recognized experts, oral presentations by young geotechnical engineers, sponsored lectures, professional networking activities, and a technical visit. The conference will take place at Rosslyn Central Park Hotel Sofia.
